Description
Alex Himmel has requested the ability to prioritize jobs for individual users so the functionality of condor_prio. For the production user, they'd like to be able to send lots of low priority jobs in the background but then have an important one jump in front of the others. This is exactly what job priorities would do. So, jobsub_submit would need an option to set the priority in the condor submission file but then they'd also like to be able to change the priority setting for jobs already in the queue too.

History

Any word on this? It's on my mind since I have a short test job that has been sitting in the queue for hours because of lots of other activity going on...

#2 - 03/06/2017 08:53 AM - Joe Boyd

- Priority changed from Normal to High

#3 - 03/06/2017 09:22 AM - Alexander Himmel

I'll also say that if adjusting priorities of submitted jobs adds a lot of extra time, getting control at submission time would already be a big improvement.

Hi Dennis,

I finished looking through this. It looks good, generally speaking. I've attached your reviewer notes with my comments in them.

Thanks,
