I kinda miss the feature of the search bar always being visible instead having to scroll to the top of the screen.

Have you tried the scroll to top/bottom button? Would you rather the search bar move with the cursor?

As a personal preference, I am not a fan of most recent activity at the top. Especially since I use the log book more for reference throughout the day instead of seeing the most recent first. So with that, I can adapt to see the search bar at the top.
