Description
Among the changes introduced in art v2_07_03, the method reconfigure() of services is not automatically called any more. This affects services that are reconfigured in the context of the event display. art has provided us a solution to preserve the functionality, whose details are in nutools release 2.14.00 notes. The classes of event display services that require this type of reconfiguration needs now to inherit from a <code>evdb::Reconfigurable</code> (and to implement a <code>reconfigure()</code> method, of course). This action must be applied to LArSoft event display services too.
