Description
HOLD function can be applied in two different ways:
- Hold running/idle jobs ( from the campaign submission level (bunch of jobs) to the a single job).
- Hold (future) launches.
This refers to the second.

History

#1 - 10/17/2017 01:30 PM - Marc Mengel

- Copied from Feature #17931: Add "HOLD/RELEASE Jobs button" added

#2 - 10/17/2017 01:48 PM - Marc Mengel

This involves adding

- a table to track what campaigns are held, and who held them;
- a routine to add/remove entries in that table with suitable permissions
- checking for this in launch_jobs()/get_job_launches() in TaskPOMS.py (get_job_launches will need a new campaign_id parameter...)
- updates to campaign_info page to show per-campaign launch hold status and links to change it
- possibly Yet Another couple of buttons on the show_campaigns page to hold/allow launches for all the currently selected campaigns? (should this become some sort of bulk-operations pulldown menu?)
- need to change launch_queued_jobs() in TaskPOMS.py to search for any queued submissions that are for campaigns that are not held and launch one and delete it from the queued submissions.

#3 - 10/17/2017 03:18 PM - Marc Mengel

- Assignee changed from Marc Mengel to Yuyi Guo

#4 - 01/23/2018 03:23 PM - Yuyi Guo

- % Done changed from 0 to 100

I am done with the HOLD/Release Launch buttons. I will create another issue for apply roles in general.
