Description
Integrate the help pages from the bpmcli Wiki page into a bpmcli so user's can get reminded of command options from the command line.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• bpmcli should display the expected usage and direct the user to use bpmcli help to get more information</li><li>• bpmcli help should display the expected usage and list all of the available commands</li><li>• bpmcli help command should display a description of what command does as well as the required and optional options</li></ul>
