Description

When a job was submitted, one cannot delete it while it is in new or idle status. It would be nice that one can delete a job as soon as any problems found no mater what status it is.

History

- Status changed from New to Resolved

- % Done changed from 0 to 100

This should be the case in development now. We scrape the jobsub-job-id from the jobsub output in poms_jobsub_wrapper now, and as soon as the job is submitted we have the jobid needed to kill it.

This doesn't address #21612 however, as we can't abort a submission in progress.
