So far, I have been learning about GlideinWMS and HTCondor by utilizing the above (and additional) resources. I have also created a visual representation of what I understood through my research. The link is attached below.

I have also taken a look at the current GlideinWMS website and have come up with a working list of suggestions on how to improve the design. The link can be found below as well.

During today's meeting with Marco and Lorena, I obtained an introduction of the different technologies and languages that can be used to build the website, including hosting pages, WordPress, restructured text, and markdown text. I will be working on researching and creating a list of which web technologies/languages can be best suitable for the GlideinWMS website as well as their individual features. In addition, I will continue to expand upon the list of suggestions for the site.
