/annie/data and /annie/root have permissions 777
The users subdirectories similiary have permissions 775.
This allows anyone to write at the those levels.
This is not safe, and has led to stray files and directories.

#2 - 11/24/2020 01:23 PM - Arthur Kreymer

- Status changed from Assigned to Work in progress

I have changed /annie/app and data permissions to 755.
I have changed the users directory permissions to 755.
I have changed ownership of /annie/*/users from ecatanom to anniepro

- % Done changed from 70 to 100

I used root@if-admin-annie to correct user directory ownerships.

I removed the empty app/users/echo file.

I moved the stray app/users files into their owners directories

I removed the empty /annie/data/.Trash* directories

I moved the stray data/users file into its owners directory
