Description
When an error is encountered, Image Tool pops up a dialogue box with the error status, but it does this in the middle of screen #1. On a multi-screen console, it would be helpful if the error box would pop up in the middle of the Image Tool window instead.

Use JOptionPnage instead of JControlsMessageBox for error dialogs. This allow us to control the parent of the dialog box, thus centering it in the main window instead of the entire display.
